

Environmental Horticulture

Danielle Broder

Submitted by Mike Gonella

Danielle is a remarkable student. Already possessing a B.S. in Biology from UCSB she is now pursuing her degree in Landscape Design at SBCC. She has excelled with near perfect scores in all class assignments and grades, is an eager learner and participant in labs, and has been a role model to other students. She volunteers at our instructional garden, helping to install and repair irrigation systems, adding her thoughtful design opinions, and approaching each task with an exemplary attitude. She is also gaining skills through professional work at a local sustainable landscaping company. She aims to pursue a master's degree in Landscape Architecture after SBCC and I have no doubt in my mind she will achieve that!

Danielle's Words of Gratitude

Santa Barbara City College has been an amazing place, allowing me to try out a new field of study while continuing to work. I'm excited to continue to pursue work within the environmental horticulture field in the future and to bring with me the practices I've learned through the environmental horticulture program. I'm honored that the passion and excitement I feel for the program is recognized and look forward to taking more classes within the program in the fall. Thank you.
