Colby Noakes has made a significant difference in every theatre class he has taken. Whether in acting, costume, scenography or stagecraft classes, his focus, commitment and communication skills have inspired every student and instructor. Colby's positive energy and ability to connect with people have made him a true ambassador for the department. He has thrown himself wholeheartedly into every aspect of the department. His excellent work as a cameraperson all year has been a critical element in making the theatre productions successful even in the middle of a pandemic. We so appreciate the joy and vitality he brings to every room he enters and every class he has been in. Thank you, Colby for everything you've contributed to us all!
